Biology Honours Program
Mid-Year Progress Review

Objective: This mid-year progress review is intended to provide Honours students and their supervisors with a formal mechanism for 1. reviewing the student’s research progress during the preceding term, 2. reiterating (and revising, if necessary) the student’s research goals for the coming term, and 3. providing any necessary feedback on the research and/or supervision.

Filling out the form: At the end of the fall term, the student should reflect on the research progress and goals and record these in bullet point format below. The student and supervisor should then meet in person to review these notes and make any necessary edits, e.g. revisions to the goals for the second term. Additional feedback should also be recorded. An additional page may be added, if necessary, but this report is intended to be a short summary of progress, goals, and room for improvement, and an occasion to articulate these clearly, NOT a formal write-up.

Submitting the form: The form must be signed by the student and supervisor, then submitted to the Honours Coordinator (Laura Nilson) and Honours Advisor (Nancy Nelson) by January 15th.

I. Accomplishments List the student's research accomplishments during the fall term.

II. Objectives List the student’s research objectives for the winter term.

III. Feedback List any feedback on the research and/or supervision and suggestions for improvement.
